Summary

As a prefinal year undergraduate student, my passion for C, C++ , and JAVA languages reflects my dedication to mastering the intricacies of programming. A skilled problem solver and analytical thinker, I am eager to delve into the depths of technology, poised for an exciting journey in the tech domain. I thrive on connecting with diverse individuals globally and am currently immersed in the realm of web development, focusing primarily on the back-end. Stay tuned for upcoming projects, and let's forge valuable connections in this dynamic tech landscape.
